SPY HEARINGS ARE FINISHED FOR THE YEAR

Whether They Will Start Up Again in New Congress Depends On How Committee Votes

CHANGES SUGGESTED

Washington, Dec. 24—(P)—The congressional spy hearings are over for this year.

Whether they will start up again in the new congress depends on how the House Un-American Activities Committee votes.

And it will have at least four new members.

The present members are going to pass along some advice to the 1949 committee.

But the committee itself isn't going to recommend any reforms in its operations.

Reps. Mundt (R-SD) and Nixon (R-Calif.) are working on some proposals along that line and expect to issue a joint statement.

But the idea of getting the committee to sponsor the suggested changes lost on a vote. Reps. McDowell (R-Pa.) and Rankin (D-Miss.) were said to have voted against it.

McDowell's reasoning was that the four members now in town aren't a majority of the whole committee and have no business trying to tell the incoming committee what it should do.

Mundt said he still intends to urge that the committee:

Give every accused person a hearing before any report is issued about him.

Question witnesses privately so as to prevent unexpected accusations against innocent people in public hearings.

Allow witnesses to submit questions, to be asked by the committee, to their accusers. The committee already has done this to a limited extent.

Without all subcommittee reports until the whole committee has passed on them.

The committee has a number of hearings left unfinished.

The last witnesses in the spy probe were heard yesterday before closed doors. They were Francis B. Sayre, former assistant secretary of state, and his secretary, Miss Anna Belle Newcomb.

Sayre told reporters he is sure that copies of secret papers, uncovered by the committee from former Communist Courier Whitaker Chambers, were stolen from the State Department and that at least three were stolen from his own office.

Two of the three have been made public.

EXTRA SANTAS NEEDED

Sharpsville, Dec. 24—(P)—They're keeping it a secret from the kiddies but the town of 5,000 will have 11 Santas instead of the usual one tonight. The community's service club has set up a fund to buy Santa Claus outfits and gifts to be distributed to children. Every home which has its porch light burning will get a personal gift from the genial old gent.

FIGHTING CONTINUES

Tel Aviv, Israel, Dec. 24—(P)—Israeli army headquarters said today "land and air activities on both sides (Israel and Egyptian) continued during yesterday evening and this morning in the western Negev. The laconic communiqué gave no further news about the scope and results of the fighting.

FALL PROVES FATAL

Altoona, Dec. 24—(P)—A skull fracture suffered four days before in a fall down stairs at the Altoona hotel caused the death of 70-year-old Herbert M. Biehl yesterday in Altoona hospital. Biehl, who had made his home at the Hotel the last two years.

New Budget Taking Shape In 42-43 Billion Dollar Range

Washington, Dec. 24—(P)—President Truman's new budget is taking shape within the 42-to-43 billion dollar range.

Something between those two figures was listed as a good bet in high quarters today, although the final decisions on the precise amount have yet to be made.

Another bet that Mr. Truman will predict a deficit—that is, more outgo than income—of from one to two billion dollars unless congress votes to increase taxes. These figures apply to fiscal year 1950, which begins next July 1.

Government spending in the current fiscal year now is being estimated at around $39,000,000,000. This figure as well as the forecast for next year's budget, is some $2,000,000,000 below previous

Christians Throughout World Look Forward To Brightest Yule Season In Many Years

London, Dec. 24—(P)—Christmas throughout the world looked forward today to a brighter Christmas than they have enjoyed in years—though generally a more expensive one.

In western Germany, shoppers thronged the stores, but the traditional Christmas goose went begging. Buyers complained that the merchants were asking too much money.

The French made ready for the most luxurious—and costly—Yuletide since the war.

Prices were up almost 60 percent over last year. But shoppers flocked in, buying everything in sight.

Medium sized turkeys sold in Paris for about $15 each. Pans night clubs featured champagne at $11.80 a bottle.

Britain has the makings of a merrier Christmas this year than last—for people who can afford it. Chickens, ducks and geese are more plentiful and the food ministry has authorized extra rations of some tightly controlled foods.

For the first Yuletide in seven years Britons can get plenty of rum, brandy and gin at controlled prices ranging from $6.50 to $8.50 a bottle. Buyer resistance has forced some British toy shops to cut prices in half.

As a special treat, the fuel ministry has told Britons to use all the electricity they wish the next three days. Ordinarily home use of electric power is forbidden during daylight hours.

Because of King George's illness he and Queen Elizabeth will spend the Christmas holidays in London for the first time since their reign began 12 years ago. Usually the royal family goes to Sandringham, the king's birthplace.

In Italy, thanks partly to the European Recovery Program, Italians face a Christmas with enough to eat.

There will be a little extra for

Truman Will Extend Radio Greetings And Light Tree

Independence, Mo., Dec. 24—(P)—President Truman had a "Merry Christmas" wish for every friend and neighbor today as preparations for tomorrow's celebration reached a climax in his Missouri home.

He'll extend his greetings to the entire nation in a radio address from his old-fashioned living room in which a 10-foot Christmas tree sparkles with light bulbs and spreads its shadows over colorful Christmas packages.

His talk, at 5:16 p. m. will give the signal for the lighting of another Christmas tree, a giant living tree on the south lawn of the White House where hundreds will gather for Washington's traditional Christmas eve ceremony.

The tree, a 35-foot fir, was decorated with vari-colored bulbs yesterday. An hour-long ceremony, to be marked by carol singing and music by the Marine Band, will begin in Washington at 4:30 p. m.

It has been a gay holiday season for the chief executive since he flew here from Washington Wednesday. He has acknowledged the "Hi Harry" from fellow Missourians with a "Merry Christmas" and talked with as many of his old cronies as a crowded schedule has allowed.

A heavy fall of snow, which started yesterday afternoon, wrapped over the spacious lawn on the Truman home and those of the president's neighbors.

The Trumans will have their turkey and trimmings in the early afternoon tomorrow.

They will gather early Christmas morning for the traditional opening of their gifts.

ADJUST MILK PRICES IN NEW YORK AREA

Albany, N. Y., Dec. 24—(P)—The State Agriculture department has approved a producer price of $5.68 a hundred weight (about 47 quarts) for Class 1-A fluid milk in the metropolitan New York area beginning Jan. 1.

It is 44 cents, or about one cent a quart, below the December minimum price of $6.12 a hundred weight.

State Agriculture Commissioner C. Chester Dumond signed the amendment to the milk marketing order yesterday.

The state order for the metropolitan district coincided with action by the Agriculture Department in Washington in approving an amendment to the federal milk marketing order. The amendment was designed to keep New York's minimum prices in line with those in the Boston market. Boston's price is 19 cents higher.

UNUSUAL PRESENTS

Pittsburgh, Dec. 24—(P)—Twenty families today will receive in the mail some papers marked "do not open until Christmas."

They will be from an Allegheny county judge who says the papers will be "the best Christmas presents they ever received." They will be adoption papers for children the couples wished to adopt.

POPE DRAWS SAD BALANCE FOR THE YEAR

Pontiff's Christmas Message Declares That Once Again World Menaced By War

HARD TRIALS AHEAD

Vatican City, Dec. 24—(P)—Pope Pius XII—drawing a sorrowful balance for 1948—declared today that once again the world is menaced by war.

The Pontiff said in a Christmas message to the world that the past year, which at first had appeared to be the start of a surge toward true peace, today "seems instead opening upon the edge of a precipice."

The forces of the world, he said, are moving toward two opposed poles, both desiring peace but "both placing it in danger."

The Pope did not mention Communism by name, nor allude directly to east-west differences.

"Some, he said, are taking the old saying, not entirely false, but which lends itself to misunderstanding and is frequently abused, that 'if you want peace, prepare for war.'"

Others, he said, believe they will find salvation in the formula—peace at any price. Both sides want peace, he added, but both endanger it.

War and the post-war years, the Pontiff said, had brought hard trials to the Catholic church.

"But, although beaten by temptations," she preserved inviolate her vital substance, he said.

The Pope spoke in reply to Christmas greetings offered him by the Sacred College of Cardinals.

As in the past, ten years, he added his words to the world at large.

The year 1948, he said, appeared at first to be one that would lead to reconstruction and "true peace."

This hope he said has not been realized.

Moral strength, the Pope said, is necessary if the world is to advance with firm step towards peace, also necessary he added, is the "courage to look truth in the eye."

The Pope alluded briefly to the Catholic church's hope for reunification of the Christian faiths.

He said his church "is anxious to find the means of hastening that hour when peace is ready for everything; for everything except one thing; that she be not asked to gain the return of the children who have left her—either in the distant past recently—at the expense of any diminution or tarnishing of the deposit of the Christian faith."

Without mentioning Communism by name, the Pope said he is aware of the "harrowing path" that must be traveled by members of the church whom "a public system of violence has driven to cut themselves formally away from the mother church."

He urged formation of a community of nations "which is in keeping with the will of God." He expressed hope the United Nations "would become the full and faultless expression of this international solidarity for peace."

The Pope said the responsibility of nations is clear.

"Every violator of the law should be banished in disgrace to solitary confinement by civil society as a disturber of the peace," he said.

He expressed hope for peace soon in Palestine.

Snow Arrives Over State For The Holidays

By The Associated Press
Dream no more of a White Christmas. You'll get it! That's what the weatherman said today.

He made it clear that Santa's reindeer will have soft sledding in Pennsylvania with a blanket of snow expected to reach five inches in many parts of the state.

Snow will begin falling at about midnight in the southern portions of the state and will work its way north until by midnight the entire state is covered.

The fall is expected to continue well into tomorrow—Christmas Day—to make driving conditions hazardous for the many who want to go home for the yuletide.

Much of Pennsylvania already is white as a result of Tuesday's snowfall, which put seven to ten inches of the flakes on Pennsylvania turf. Rising temperatures melted some of the snow during the week, but it's still drifted deep in rural sections.

Now there's nothing left to do but wake up on Christmas morning and go to work shoveling snow.

The weather bureau said the five inch snowfall would be general in Pittsburgh and western Pennsylvania. Corry, in the northwest corner of the state, already passed

Jolly Old Saint and His Famous Reindeer Are Heading For the American Border

The jolly old saint and his famous reindeer are zooming through the Arctic skies right now, heading for the American border. He'll reach it tonight.

The northern lights switched on to a clear steady green—the "go ahead" signal. And the Royal Canadian Mounted Police sent Santa this message:

"We are clearing all air lanes in your path, old boy. There is no speed limit for you tonight. The sky is yours. Go as fast as you like. Good luck!"

And Santa Claus needed that wide, clear road in the sky. For his big red sled was placed so full of gifts it overflowed. It looked like a hayrick zooming through the crisp air.

"Oh, dear, oh dear," worried Santa, just before the takeoff. "I hope none of these presents fall out and be seen by some innocent rabbit down below. I believe this must be the heaviest load I've had in twenty years."

"What is he fretting about?" whispered Donner to Vixen. "He's only riding in that sled. We have to pull it."

Vixen laughed so hard the bells on her harness tinkled in merry music. And all the other reindeer laughed, too.

As Santa Claus climbed up into the seat of the sled, puffing a little because he has gained some weight this winter, three black and white penguins waddled across the snow in front of the reindeer.

"There, there, get out of the way, please," said Santa Claus impatiently. Then he said, surprised:

"Why what are you penguins doing up at the North Pole anyway? You're supposed to be at the South Pole."

"We're on a vacation," said one of the penguins. "We're looking (Turn to Page Eleven)

Original Ideas In American Communities For Celebrating

By The Associated Press
Many American communities have their own, individual ideas about how to make this a Merry Christmas.

At least one even has a special date—instead of December 25—for the festivities.

But whatever the variations, it's all in the name of good will. Out west in Boise, Idaho, one group observes the Yuletide season with a "Sheep-Herders Ball." At the event, held by the Idaho Basque Colony, everybody must wear overalls and ganghans.

In Nashville, Tenn., a 30-year-old tradition calls for the singing of carols outside every home that has a candle burning in the window. Volunteer carolers make their rounds—with proceeds going to a home for children of working mothers.

Christmas doesn't come until Jan. 6 in the fishing village of Rodanthe, N. C. There, according to a custom followed for generations, they celebrate Old Christmas, or 12th night, an adaptation of the Feast of the Epiphany commemorating the manifestation of Christ to the Magi.

An international flavor will be added to the festivities in these upstate communities, where 51 persons, from 22 foreign nations, will be guests over the holiday weekend.

The guests—clerical workers and others from the United Nations headquarters at Lake Success, N. Y., will stay in the homes of 51 families in Englewood, Johnson City and Endicott. The plan was worked out by Rotary clubs.

In Boston, the golden dome of the Massachusetts state house is aglow for the first time since the war. Tonight carolers and bell ringers will roam staid old Beacon Hill, with open houses prevailing at many of the old mansions.

In Atlantic City, N. J., which specializes in spectacles—the long boardwalk is aglow with a row (Turn to Page Eleven)

Alias Santa And Staff Are Remembered With Doughnuts

A thoughtful Warren woman got a big hug from Alias Santa Claus when she stopped at the Times-Mirror office today.

She had brought a nice big bag of popcorn balls to pack in the Christmas Cheer boxes that are being sent out to needy youngsters in the Warren district.

"And I've got a surprise for you, Alias Santa," she said with a great big smile. "I've made some doughnuts for you and your hard-working helpers here at the Times-Mirror office."

"Whoops, my favorite fruit," Alias Santa yelled, snuggling the woman against his big white beard. "Thank you a thousand times, and a Merry Christmas."

"You know, the people of Warren county sure are good folks—I guess that's why I always want to keep coming back here year after year. Yes, sir, the people around here have the real Christmas Spirit."

"And look at these latest contributions. The Forestview Nursery sends in three big Christmas trees. I just got a call about another washing machine in response to that special request I made for a big family. And you remember, I wanted a ball and bat for one youngster. Well, Z. L. Sheldon of the Sheldon Handle Company of Kinzua brought in not one ball bat, but a box of 50 bats of assorted sizes for the future Babe Ruths in the area."

"And that's some more contributions of money. Two little girls sent in $2.00, the Warren Central W.C.T.U. sent in a check for $5.00. Here's another check for $5.00; $2.00 from Pvt. Paul Dell of the Pennsylvania State Police; $25 from the office employees of the Struthers Wells Company; and donations of $25, $10 and $1.00 from more cousins of that wonderful Anonymous family."

"But now it's time to get back to work. May God bless each of you who have so generously shared with others who are in need."

Factory Whistle To Proclaim Message

York, Dec. 24—(P)—A factory whistle, ordinarily the most disagreeable of all devices to produce sound, will proclaim the message of Christmas in all its beauty at midnight tonight.

Karl Alex Smyser, a musician of 45, will tug at the cord of the steamwhistle at the New York Wire Cloth factory with the same delicate care he would give to a piano or a violin.

And for a mile around this eastern Pennsylvania city people will hear the strains of "Silent Night" and "Joy To The World."

Smyser has been evoking melodies on Christmas eve at the plant for 24 years.

A teacher of stringed instruments the rest of the year, Smyser uses what he calls a trombone technique to produce the shading of tones in the Christmas melodies. With one hand, he operates steam pressure and shoves with the other. Says Smyser:

"It's just like a toy tin whistle but on a much larger scale."

46 Degrees Below As Santa Fills His Sleigh

North Pole, Dec. 24—(P)—It was 46 degrees below zero here today as Santa Claus piled his sleigh high with packages for his yearly visit to kids all around the world.

Just a short while ago, the round, jolly old gentleman received good news from the weather bureau way down there in New York City. The weatherman promised that he and his reindeer would find snow over a wide area of the country.

Carrier Joins Rescue Effort In Greenland

Washington, Dec. 24—(P)—The Navy is sending an aircraft carrier to help get 11 men off a frigid icecap in Greenland.

The navy rushed helicopter crews to Norfolk, Va., where the 10,000-ton carrier Salpan was aiming to get underway by nightfall.

Officials said the vessel will take at least five days to reach Greenland.

What's more, forecasters indicated that bad weather, which has stalled air rescue operations all week, may last into Christmas day.

Heavy winds and snow yesterday grounded the pick-up planes clustered in the area—a four-engine C-54 transport, two twin-engine C-82s, a twin-engine ski and jet-equipped C-47, two gliders, a helicopter and a light liaison plane.

Seven of the men stranded atop the 1,500-foot icecap have been there since December 9, when their C-47 cracked up. Two more men joined the castaways four days later, when they made a rescue attempt in a B-17 but were grounded by snow drifts. The last two landed a glider in the area after another four-day interval, and then were unable to maintain contact with a plane attempting to snatch them off the ice.

The Air Force said all 11 men still "are getting along very nicely." A dismantled plywood shelter has been parachuted to them to augment the snow huts in which they have been living. Food, medical supplies and heating equipment also have been dropped from planes.

A Christmas dinner delivery was planned if rescue attempts don't succeed by tonight.

NUMBERS WAR BREAKS OUT IN PITTSBURGH

Pittsburgh, Dec. 24—(P)—Police said today the smashing of 19 windows in five small stores and a club on the southside yesterday signaled the opening of a number war.

Arrests for numbers writing had been made at six places in the last three months. According to Lt. Lawrence J. Maloney of the city racket squad.

Lt. Maloney said police were called when bricks and pieces of concrete were hurled through the window panes. A hunt was on for a car used by the window smashers.

Rain, hail, cold winds and fog have swept this area for the past 24 hours. It was dreary weather for travel.

Thousands have made the trip in previous years. About 139 Christians in Jerusalem, New Jerusalem planned to go today.

When the stars shine again tonight over the shrine of the manger and the bells of Bethlehem peal for prayer at midnight most of the worshippers will be Christian Arabs of Bethlehem. They make up 9,000 of the town's population of 11,000.

HALT ORDERED IN FIGHTING IN INDONESIA

Security Council Directs Immediate End To Hostilities and Release Leaders Being Held

SOVIET PLAN REJECTED

Paris, Dec. 24—(P)—The Security Council today ordered an immediate end to the fighting in Indonesia and prompt release of Indonesian leaders captured by the Dutch.

The Council's Christmas eve vote on these two issues was seven in favor and none opposed. Four nations abstained.

The Council turned down the joint U. S.-Colombian-Syrian demand for withdrawal of Dutch forces from areas seized since the Netherlands attack on the Indonesian Republic stated Sunday.

Five nations voted for it and none against, but six abstained. Seven votes are needed for passage in the Council.

Russia asked that The Netherlands be condemned as an aggressor.

The Council order was based on the American-Colombian-Syrian proposal, as amended.

Delegates made their decisions in a series of ballots on separate paragraphs of the three-power project and two Australian-Syrian amendments.

France, Argentina, Canada, Belgium, the Soviet Union and the Soviet Ukraine defeated the withdrawal proposal of the resolution by abstaining. All other Council members voted for it. The Ukrainian delegate was not present and the Ukraine accordingly was marked as abstaining on all ballots.

France, Belgium, Argentina and the Ukraine abstained on the proposal to issue the cease fire order. France, Belgium, Russia and the Ukraine abstained on the proposal to order the release of captured Indonesian leaders, though a Russian resolution had proposed the same thing.

Soviet Delegate Jacob A. Malik submitted the resolution, proposing that it be adopted instead of a U. S.-Colombian-Syrian resolution which he termed too lenient.

The Soviet resolution says the aggression of "the Netherlands government, which has again undertaken military action against the Indonesian republic in violation of the well known Renville (truce) agreement."

Britain announced support of the American-Colombian-Syrian resolution. France said she would abstain because "sentiment should not be allowed to take precedence" over legal rights. Canada proposed to submit a resolution of her own.

BROOKLYN MAN HELD FOR BLAIR ROBBERY

Holldayville, Dec. 24—(P)—Frank Ciruolo, 27, of Brooklyn was held in Blair county jail on armed robbery charges in the $20,000 armed holdup of Daniel Lamont, Altoona sportsman, last Nov. 10.

Arrested in New York, Ciruolo was extradited.

Also held here on the same charge is Louis Zawadzki, 45, of Hartford, Conn. Mrs. Virginia Gresham, 30, of New York, is held for questioning in the case.

Police said they also will ask Ciruolo and Zawadzki in connection with the slaying of James Longden found shot to death the day after the holdup in a field near Hershey.

PA PITT FIGHTS SMOKE

Pittsburgh, Dec. 24—(P)—Allegheny county commissioners yesterday drew up an anti-smoke law similar to the city's smoke control ordinance. The proposed law would allow commercial and industrial fuel consumers until June 1, 1950, to change to smokeless coal or install equipment to burn coal smokelessly. Home owners would get three years longer to convert.

Bethlehem, Dec. 24—(P)—usually traveled by Christian pilgrims from Jerusalem is closed and under gunpoint. This route which passes the Jewish shrine of Rachel's tomb, is 12 miles long. The pilgrims going to the shrine today will pass through a no man's land into the Arab-held wall city of Jerusalem and travel by a roundabout dirt road the Arab Legion built this summer to haul up its siege guns.

The rains have turned the road into a quagmire.

Newell Press Enjoys Party And Dinner

Thursday afternoon, at two o'clock, the fourth floor of the Newell Press became the sole scene of activity in that fifty-year old commercial printing plant. The Kuhre Catering Service took charge of production and fifty-five Newell employees and invited guests were served a bountiful repast amidst a holiday setting replete with lighted Christmas trees, candles and beautifully decorated tables.

The occasion was the twenty-second of its kind for the older employees of the plant, but marked the first attendance of Mr. and Mrs. Leo H. Ward, of Buffalo, N. Y., who purchased the interests of John T. Newell in January of this year.

After-dinner speeches were dispensed with in favor of a musical program featuring Dorothy Engstrom and her accordion. Her selections were well received and much enjoyed by all.

With Janet Mellander and Emily Anderson at the piano, the third-floor girls and the first-floor boys really warmed things up with their rendition of carols and popular songs. Gladys Babcock led the group singing and Ray Lewis officiated as master of ceremonies.

LeRoy Schneek, program director of WNAE, was present with his wire recorder and gave us responsible for a most hilarious hour of entertainment. Good Old Uncle Usher, wotta guy!

Santa Claus was in attendance and, as usual, had gifts for all.

Included in the guest list were Messrs Donald McComas, Melvin Keller and Vernon Mellander, of New Process Company, who obliged by singing: "All I Want for Christmas is a 'Long Wear Shirt!'"

An old time scene in Warren of 1889 is depicted on the Warren National Bank calendar for 1949 showing Pennsylvania avenue from the point of the Warren Bank and Trust Company looking west. Appearing on the left side of the picture are the insurance offices of John Sill, about where the R. W. Norris Company is now. On the right, the brick buildings, except for sidewalk awnings, appear much the same as they are now. The dirt street is crisscrossed with wagon tracks, many of which lead to the entrance of the old suspension bridge. Five rafts are moored in the river opposite the Carver House.

Hal Boyle Sighs For A Good "Old-Fashioned" Christmas

By HAL BOYLE
New York—(AP)—"Lost, strayed or stolen—one good old-fashioned Christmas. Pinder please return."

But I suppose no one will ever bring it back. That Christmas is covered up with the years. It is laid away with childhood, in that vanished time when being a child was more simple than it is today.

And Christmas was simple then, too. Everything was simpler. Dad brought home a four-bit tree and set it up in the living room. The base was made by knocking one end out of a fruit box. There weren't any fancy metal gadgets.

It didn't take half a week's income to decorate the tree. We put on a few spangled candle holders, a star, and rope after rope of cranberries and popcorn strung on thread from Mom's sewing kit. It was a beautiful tree, simple and satisfying. Everyone in the family got a special pleasure out of it because he had done something himself to make it prettier.

In those long ago days the tradition of the Christmas stocking was taken very seriously. Dad entered the game, too, and hung up his sock along with the others.

"Put one up with a hole in it—you'll get more," he joked. And sure enough, one of the smaller boys did that. But Santa Claus, too crafty to be caught by that old ruse, plugged the sock with an orange.

There was always an orange in each stocking, and it was a big treat then. What would a modern child think of Santa Claus today

Girl Scouts Plan Reunion Next Monday

The camp committee of the Warren County Council Girl Scouts expects a record attendance of counselors and campers at the Camp Reunion slated for Monday, December 27 from 2 to 4 p. m. at the American Legion Home, 710 Pennsylvania avenue, west, Warren.

Announcements have gone out to all the girls who camped at Bird-sall Edey during the 1948 season. Not only will the girls have an opportunity to renew friendships, but they are to bring snap-shots along for viewing.

Mrs. A. E. Soderholm, camp chairman, will be assisted by the counselors, who will officiate at the "cabin" reunion; by Mrs. John Kirk, of Youngsville, who will conduct a game session, and by Mrs. Freeman Peterson and Mrs. George Betts, who will serve the refreshments.

Local Representative Of I. C. S. Honored

L. E. Johnson, local representative of the International Correspondence Schools recently was recipient of high acclaim from his company.

Mr. Johnson was among the 100 highest producers for the year 1947 and his salesmanship gained him a place in the I. C. S. "Century Club."

One month during that time he was highest in the United States. That distinction was gained in one of the smallest districts. He was also a member of this select club in 1945.

Mr. Johnson has been connected with I. C. S. for eight years.

for leaving him a common thing like an orange. The sock also was stuffed with half a dozen kinds of nuts—it took most of Christmas morning to crack them on mom's old hand iron before the fireplace—and jaw-breaking, rainbow-colored Christmas candy.

The presents were few but well chosen. There was something to wear—a new sweater or a stocking cap. But there was always something to play with, too. One year of golden memory it was a real flexible flyer sled, and by nightfall the four small brothers who shared this vanished wonder nearly had worn the runners off.

What ever happened to that old-fashioned Christmas. I was talking to a friend about it the other day, and he said:

"That was the kind of Christmas I had as a boy, too. But it has gone up the chimney."

"I paid $5 for a Christmas tree this year, and the tinsel garbages we bought to throw on it cost me more than my father earned the week he married my mother. When we were through we didn't have a Christmas tree—we had a Hollywood production. And that's exactly what it looked like: all tinsel and no warmth. There wasn't a home-made thing on it."

And my friend remarked that the whole spirit of Christmas had changed—to him at least—since his boyhood.

"As I remember it," he said, "Christmas was a time when you bought a few presents for close friends or members of the family. Today I get the idea that Christmas is just a parade of people going by me with their hands out."

"My wife said she didn't know anything for me this year. She said she had to tip her hairdresser, the grocery boy, the mailman, the maid who comes every other Saturday, the butcher, the building superintendent, the milkman, the fellow who delivers from the liquor store—and half a dozen other people. As husband, it seems I'm last in line."

Whatever happened to the old-fashioned Christmas, when Santa Claus packed a bag—instead of a sandbag?

TIPS FROM THE GAME PROTECTOR

Pennsylvania's wildlife has a multitude of values. Its presence benefits everyone; its absence invariably spells disaster for the human population of any given area.

Wildlife is classified into broad groups; namely, game, fur-bearing animals, and song and insectivorous birds. In the Keystone State this year, nearly one million persons took to the fields and the forests in pursuit of wild game. Whereas, in the day of pioneer, game was taken almost solely for food and clothing, it should be hunted nowadays primarily for sport and recreation. Now, money spent on all spectator sports is only one-tenth that spent on hunting paraphernalia and hunting trips.

Undoubtedly the comparative benefits in mind and body, accruing to those who hunt and who also attend ball games, etc., as spectators, are at least ten to one.

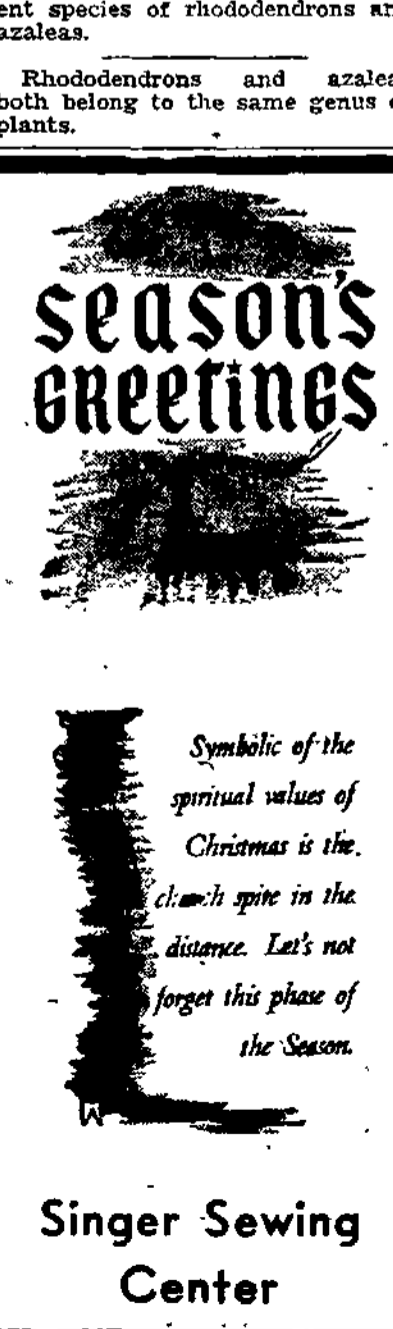

On the economic side alone, song and insectivorous birds annually consume vast amount of insect, bug and worm pests, thus preventing great damage to farm crops, orchards and garden plant life of value commercially or esthetically.

The Commonwealth is a leading fur-producing state, too, annually yielding a pelt crop valued at about $2,000,000. Much of the monetary return from skins of animals taken in the wild finds its way into the pockets of farm boy trappers.

Pennsylvania does hold an enviable position in the field of wild life production. However, it will take the concerted energies of conservation agencies and the cooperative efforts of the State's citizenry if our status in the field of wildlife management is to be maintained.

There are more than 400 different species of rhododendrons and azaleas.

Rhododendrons and azaleas both belong to the same genus of plants.

DANGLING ENDS OF 1948

Has 1948 left you with a feeling of unfinished business? Do you feel that somehow you've been living through a year that was only getting ready for next year, or the next?

According to James Marlow, Associated Press feature writer in Washington, the year 1948 has left an awful lot of loose ends dangling, and he describes a few of them as follows:

First, of course, there were the Russians, and Berlin, and the United Nations, and the Marshall plan: All unfinished business.

By mid-year the Russians, who had been getting tougher by the minute, got very tough and threw a land blockade around Berlin.

We had to begin shipping in supplies by air, a very expensive job. And we're still doing that. No one knows how it will end.

But everyone knows it's only part of the vast non-shooting war between this country and Russia.

And in the United Nations the Russians screamed and called names and got names screamed back at them.

Looking back, 1948 seemed to be a year of endless war between President Truman and the 80th Congress, run by Republicans.

The "Do-nothing Congress," he called it. He made that a slogan in his fight for election to a full four-year term in the White House.

And he won, much to the embarrassment of Washington's political experts and the nation's politakers who said he didn't have a chance.

This startling victory alone forced everyone to realize that 1948 truly was a year of unfinished business because—

With the Democrats back in control of Congress in 1949, they'll have a chance to do what they said in 1948 they'd do if they got elected.

And what they promised was really a promise to revive and carry on the New Deal which had gone into a coma before President Roosevelt died in 1945.

So the Democrats took their election as an order from the people to go on with their unfinished business.

And there was a little more business begun but not finished in 1948: The draft, to build up the armed forces.

Since the reason for the draft in the first place—worry about Russia—is still unfinished business, the draft is still on the books and the armed forces still want plenty of power in 1949.

And there was the spy case. That's really unfinished business.

A federal grand jury indicted Alger Hiss, former State Department official, on a perjury charge in this case.

He was the only one against whom any charge was made. And the grand jury which indicted him on December 15 folded up the same day.

That jury had been investigating spying for 18 months and, since its life was only 18 months, it had to end.

Then a new grand jury picked up where the old one left off.

It Still Shines for Those Who Earnestly Seek It

Here And There

Sixty-one years ago, Christmas fell on Sunday, December 25, 1887. On Saturday, the 24th, the Warren Mirror in its column "Warren Variables," carried the following poem, under the heading "Monday."

The holiday advances with measured tread,
The snow-clouds drift athwart the sombre skies,
The average youngster early goes to bed
To dream of Santa Claus and pumpkin pies.

The baker kneads his dough with swift case,
And moulds his wares in figures rare and quaint.
The kind confectioner, in hopes to please,
Tips off his candies with fresh coats of paint.

Full many a colic cramp and mortal throes,
The dark unfathomed depths of mince-meat bear,
Full many a soul the candy white as snow,
Has hasten'd heavenward, up the golden stair.

Now laughs the genial doctor all the while,
And orders in "a column well displayed,"
The undertaker wears a hopeful smile,
O'er prospects of a soon reviving trade.

—Eugene Field.

This And That: The numerous Christmas greetings received by the Times-Mirror staff are gratefully acknowledged with sincere thanks. Here's one received from out of the ordinary received from a publicity agency in New York that sends out releases regularly to newspapers of the country, which is a little bit out of the ordinary and makes interesting reading: "To all of you, who have brightened my days during '48 by using the little pieces I send out, I should like to extend my very best wishes for the holiday season. I wish I could send you something practical, like a bottle of Scotch or a home in the country to which you could retire some thirty years hence, (the home, not the Scotch), but can't. I do wish you most sincerely—A Very Merry Christmas. Everything, You Want—within reason—in 1949." . . . Stores close at five o'clock this evening, just in case you happen to glance over this column before that hour . . . And the Times-Mirror will publish Monday as usual . . . If you looked toward the Library theater this morning around ten o'clock and it appeared that the sides were bulging out, it was only caused by the presence of just about all the kiddies in Warren, who gathered there to attend the annual community children's Christmas party sponsored by the Moose and Elk lodges, Manager George Sarvis of the Library theater, the Papp Dance Studio and the Times-Mirror—and a hilarious time was had by all . . . No person has had more fun the past four weeks than our own Bob Moorhead, of the Times-Mirror staff, "publicity agent" for Alias Santa Claus, the writer responsible for all those articles that have been printed in connection with this project . . . And no person has been busier than the girls in the business office, who have spent the past week getting boxes, baskets and other gifts ready for distribution to the large number of families on the list to be remembered . . . Every person connected with the activity is most appreciative for the fine and generous response that has been received, which makes it possible to carry on this endeavor. Your support has made it possible to bring happiness and Christmas cheer into many homes that otherwise would have a desolate Christmas. Thanks again. And have a safe and Merry Christmas.

Interesting Items Taken From The Warren Evening Times

Letters to Santa continue to pour in. Most little writers do not forget to mention their sisters and brothers. One little boy adds in a P. S. to Santa—I'll leave the front light on the porch and my window open. Others diplomatically first thank St. Nicholas for the gifts they received the year before . . . The Red Ravens basketball team took over Corry with a 47-13 score. "Har" Lord led the scoring attack for the locals . . . No less than three counterfeit twenty-dollar bills were passed here since the first of the week. The bills are very poor imitations and can be easily detected. The winter Boy Scout camp at Jafmore is to be opened the day after Christmas. A select group of boys has signed up . . . A plant known as the Christmas flower, a beautiful blooming plant, can be seen on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Gogg, near Pleasantville. The blossoms resemble a large single rose and are white. There are two plants with about fifty blossoms . . . Every place is taken for the Hi-Y reunion and banquet with many being turned away. This promises to be one of the biggest events of the year . . . The year 1928 marks the one hundredth anniversary of the first settlement at what is now Treville in Stuebentown township. . . . Manager George C. Sarvis is advertising a midnight show for New Year's Eve. There will be a program of feature pictures and a vaudeville . . . Rudolph Taylor called in from Barnes to report finding a lively butterfly flitting about . . . Almost seventy homes were visited by the Times-Mirror Santa Claus. The magnificent response of a generous community was responsible for making Christmas a merry occasion for many destitute families. Donations of clothes and toys from citizens and merchants and bushels of potatoes, apples and turnips from farmers in the area were greatly appreciated.

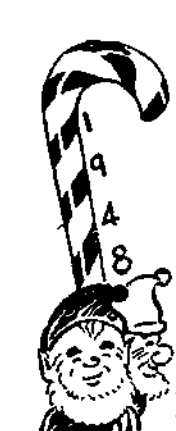

and, for the New Year, we wish you 365 happy days.

CHRISTMAS JOY

Individually we may know of some special thing we can do to make Christmas happier for another. Regardless of what we may do for individuals, there is one thing all of us can do for everyone in the community, including ourselves.

We can buy and use Christmas Seals. These Seals have become a tradition because they are a symbol of an important piece of humanitarian work.

All of us want to support that work. But in the rush of Christmas preparations some of us may have postponed acting and have not answered that Christmas Seal letter. It is not too late to act. Responding to that impulse today will bear fruit in the form of a healthier community for our children and ourselves during the next year.

The period we are now entering and continuing until after New Years, is in one respect the most dangerous of the whole year. A plague of fires rages up and down this country during the last ten days of December into the first of January, we are reminded by the authoritative National Fire Protective Association, which keeps records and figures to support the assertion. Don't let Noel joy go up in smoke. Use every precaution possible to avert fires.

From the publisher down to the carrier boys, the Times-Mirror family joins in extending to one and all a merry Christmas weekend!! There will be a paper as usual, on Monday! Have a good time!

And don't forget to do your Christmas exchanging early!

Wall St. Laid Egg In 1948

By WILLIAM D. HORGAN
New York—The 1948 stock market, in the language of Broadway, laid an egg.
One of the most highly touted bull markets in a decade fell flat on its face in mid-summer.
The spectacular outcome of the Presidential elections also confounded the prophets by touching off the sharpest decline in years.
At the end of 1948 the general level of stock prices was just about where it was at the start of the year. In the meantime, of course, millions of dollars were made in the market—and millions lost.
It was a year in which the market all but abandoned its traditional role as one of the nation's most sensitive economic prophets.
American industry made more money than in any year in history. Dividends, extras, specials, year-end, stock—streamed out of corporation tills in a swollen golden flood. Industry put its plant in order, expanded, developed new processes, worked at top speed to satisfy an almost undreamed of demand.
But the stock market ignored the country's well-being. For a few brief months, true enough, the price level edged ahead until a climax was reached in a few frenzied days of trading in mid-May. Then, advance, curiously, was less the result of an appraisal of the future than the psychological reaction to the fact that the Dow-Jones Average of Industrial stock prices had passed a so-called resistance point.
The May jump in prices was the market's swan-song so far as another sharp rise was concerned. Wall Street developed a painful sensitivity to what Russia had to say. Dispatches from Berlin and Moscow were studied with more care than the balance sheets of domestic corporations.

In mid-July, a week after the market had wormed its way to a high since August, 1946, prices dropped sharply. Russia was blamed, along with a call for a special session of Congress and U. S. Steel Corp.'s announcement of a wage-price increase.
For the rest of July, and in August and September, prices sagged without getting very far one way or another.
October was Wall Street's pre-election market. The financial district figured that Gov. Dewey had the election in the bag. Over-enthusiastic traders started to talk of tax reduction, a more favorable political atmosphere for business. The price level advanced until it was within hailing distance of the 1948 high.
Wall Street's reaction to the Truman victory was swift and decisive. In a series of four smashing selling attacks, prices were driven down to the lowest level since mid-March.
In November alone about $8,000,000,000 was chopped off the market value of all stocks listed on the exchange.
The financial district talked gloomily of what the new administration would do to business profits, dividends, free enterprise. The mood of pessimism gradually wore off, helped along by reassuring statements by administration spokesmen and by a little more realistic appraisal of the future.

In the bond market corporate issues tended to follow stocks but with greater stability.
Top news in bond circles though, was the government's fiscal policy. Short-term interest was gradually lifted through the year while, in the face of often bitter opposition, the government maintained its basic rate of 2½ per cent for long-term money.
The policy was so successful that at the year-end the Federal Reserve System was able to sell some of the long-term government issues which it had purchased during the year in support of the 2½ per cent rate.

Merry Christmas!

"Peace on Earth, Good-Will to Men"

Some say that ever 'gainst that season comes
Wherein our Saviour's birth is celebrated,
The bird of dawning singeth all night long;
And then, they say, no spirit can walk abroad:
The nights are wholesome; then no planets strike,
No fairy takes, nor witch hath power to charm,
So hallow'd and so gracious is the time.

—Hamlet, Act I, Scene I

Since 1908, the ancient Royal Copenhagen pottery has created a special plate each year to commemorate Christmas. After a "limited edition" is run off the moulds are destroyed. The creation above is a reproduction of the Christmas (Julen) plate for 1910. From the Retlau Sekrap collection.

Season of Visions

Robert Keith Leavitt, writing in the Christmas Sunday issue of This Week, has expressed in the following words our exact sentiments concerning the holiday season in which we will all have some share:

"They call it The Holidays—this last, brief, glowing season of the year—the nine days that begin with Christmas Eve and end with New Year's Day. And so they are—holidays both in the ancient sense of days made holy in remembrance of the world's Greatest Gift and in the modern sense of a time of release from care, a time for the enjoyment of laughter and generosity and good will toward men. But The Holidays have another and more special quality. They are the Season of Visions. They begin with the miracle of seeing backward into the past and then end with the uplift of looking forward to the future.

Until now, we have lived our year in the present, rarely thinking back beyond yesterday, rarely farther ahead than tomorrow. But as each Christmas approaches, we find ourselves remembering times past. Suddenly, as by a special blessing, we can see those other days in crystal clarity; there are so many things to remind us. We see again—how clearly!—the faces that are gone, and hear once more the sound of voices long since stilled.

It is almost as though the old days were back, and the old scenes and the old hopes and presences that made the world that we used to know what it was... Then, as these enchanted days glide by, the miracle of vision begins to swing—from past to future. Like a beam of light it flashes past the year that is going, the days that are running out, with their trials and satisfactions, their frustrations and triumphs. Soon these will be gone; they will be only a score that has been erased, an account that has gone to the files... And all at once we find ourselves looking upon the future and seeing it very clear. Now it is not merely reason that tells us there is a future. It is vision that suddenly reveals it to us, bright and vivid with opportunity and challenge.

There is no one of us, however battered by the old year, who cannot look forward to the new one with hope, picturing what it may bring—or more (for we are, thank God, free men), planning how we may make this, the coming year, all that it should be.

Let us take joy in these days as they pass, and count among our greatest blessings the miracles which exist for each of us in this Season of Visions.

Church Notes

RELIGIOUS DRAMA AT FIRST METHODIST

"Discovering Jesus by Giving" will be the pastor's sermon theme at the 11:00 o'clock service of Sunday morning worship. Both choirs, under the direction of Carroll A. Fowler, will be in the procession. The youth choir will sing the carols: "Love Came Down at Christmas" (Mueller) and "See the Infant Softly Sleeping" (Gretchenandoff) and the senior choir will sing two Bach chorals from "The Christmas Oratorio": (1) Break forth, O beautiful heavenly light and (2) Thee, with tender care. The two choirs will unite in singing "The Babe in Bethlehem" as arranged by Scholin. Miss Evelyn Wolstencroft will play the following organ numbers: "Shepherds in the Fields" (Malling) and "Hallelujah Chorus" (Handel) and "Gesu Bambino" (Voni). At 3:00 o'clock the Sacrament of Baptism will be administered to infants.

At 3:30 o'clock members of the church school, assisted by the youth choir, will present the drama "Holy Night" written by Mary M. Russell. Those in the cast are Jane Hill, Helen McCune, Charles Niederlander, Jon Kieshauser, Harold Crearath, Richard Christensen, Bruce Forgeron, Donald Wood, Ralph Hodman, Clyde Smith, Marjorie Stevens, and Margaret Eaton. The committee in charge of this program includes Estelle Roswell, Mrs. W. H. Wright, Carroll Fowler, Paul Cary, Frank Willard, Royce Elack, Florence Lund, Margaret Pittman, and Mrs. Paul Gary. The various classes of the church school will present their Gifts Offering at this program.

Mollie Pickering and Paul A. Eaton Wed Dec. 19th In Quaker Ceremony

Miss Mollie Pickering, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry C. Pickering, Sunnylea Farm, Woodbourne, and Paul A. Eaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter G. Eaton, Buffalo, N. Y., were married in the Middletown Friends Meeting House at Langhorne on Sunday evening, December 19, at seven o'clock.

The simple Quaker ceremony was held by candlelight with over 200 persons attending. Piano music by Mrs. Albert W. Rowe, Jr., Langhorne, included a number of Christmas selections and "Liebestraum" by Liszt. The wedding certificate was read by the bride's father.

The bride wore a long gown of white satin with U-shaped neckline, tiny buttons to the waist, and long sleeves buttoned at the wrists. Her floor-length lace veil had been worn by her mother and her great-aunt at their weddings. She carried a bridal bouquet of gardenias.

The bride's attendants were Miss Mabel E. Satterthwaite, of State College and Yardley, maid of honor, and Miss Mary Jane Mickey, of Gettysburg, bridesmaid. Both wore gowns of changeable taffeta of a deep fuchsia shade, with full skirts, jackets buttoned up to high collars, long sleeves, and short peplums. They carried colonial bouquets of white roses.

Best man was William M. Smith, of Blairsville and Warren. Ushers included Henry C. Pickering, Jr., Woodbourne, brother of the bride; Karl K. Mahaffey, Philadelphia and Warren; Wilfred A. Nolte, Jr., and Richard C. Nolte, both of Coraopolis and cousins of the bridegroom.

The bride's mother wore a gown of moss green crepe and a corsage of pale pink roses. The bridegroom's mother chose an orchid colored gown with a corsage of white roses.

Following the wedding, a small reception was held at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. Eaton left immediately for a brief wedding trip. They will return to Woodbourne for the Christmas holidays and will be at home in Kenmore, N. Y., on January 1.

Mr. Eaton has until recently been doing home economics extension work in Warren county. She was graduated from George School, in Bucks county, in 1941, and from Penn State in 1945.

Mr. Eaton is a senior at the University of Buffalo. He was graduated from Warren High School in 1943 and served for three years in the armed services as a paratrooper.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Kiernan and daughter, Audrey, of Warren; Mr. and Mrs. Emory Jordan, Bear Lake; Mr. and Mrs. William M. Smith, Blairsville.

College News

Cadet Max Beckenbach, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Beckenbach, 624 Henry street, and Cadet James Schellhammer, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Schellhammer, 800 Market street, are home from Bordentown Military Institute, Bordentown, N. J., to spend the holidays with their parents.

Cadet Beckenbach was one of 30 from 200 boys who made the dean's list in the semester just closed. Cadet Schellhammer is on the junior varsity basketball squad.

Tom Mooney, son of Mrs. Mary Foley of Poplar street, has arrived home for the Christmas holidays from his classes at Bradley University, Peoria, Ill. He was accompanied by a classmate, Harry Dunn, of Honolulu, Hawaii. Miss Sallie Mooney, who is enrolled at the School of Nursing at St. Vincent Hospital in Erie, is expected home Christmas day.

Truman Gets Washington Replica

This desk, an exact duplicate of one George Washington used, was the Christmas gift of the White House carpentry shop to President Truman. Carpenter Isaac Avery, right, shows the President's nail-holes, dating from 1812 or earlier, on one of the drawers. Some of the wood bears signs of scorching from when the British burned the White House in 1814.

PAK Committees Arranging For Two Special Events During Holidays

PAK has arranged two outstanding events in the holiday season for members, alumni members and friends. The first of these will be a holiday tea and concert Sunday afternoon in Dunham parlors of First Methodist church; the second, a tea-dansant at the Woman's Club on New Year's afternoon and evening.

On Sunday afternoon, the PAK choir will provide a program of music broken with incidental solos by various alumni members. The program will include the following numbers by the choir:

And the Glory from "The Messiah"; Handel; Virgin's Lullaby; Buck; Hear the Bells, Francis; Voices of the Sky; Matthews; There's a song in the Air; Speaks; Hallelujah Chorus from "The Messiah"; Handel.

Valerie Lemmon and her committee will serve refreshments.

All PAK members and their friends are cordially invited to attend this program, for which there will be no admission charge. The party on New Year's Day will introduce an innovation in holiday activities for PAK. Orrie Beebe at the Hammond organ and members of his orchestra will provide music for dancing. Emma Lou Plummer and her committee will decorate the club appropriately, and Carol King and her committee will serve refreshments throughout the afternoon and evening.

Additional committee chairmen are as follows: Arrangements, David Winans; publicity, John Elliott; program, Dick Schuler. PAK extends a cordial invitation to all members, alumni members and their friends to attend these two holiday activities.

Rural Lutheran Church Schedule

Rev. Earl W. Carlson announces Christmas services will be held at 12 midnight, Friday, at the Hassel Valley Lutheran church in Chanders Valley; at 4 a. m. Christmas Day in Berea Lutheran church at Freehold, and at 6 a. m. on the 25th at Saron Lutheran in Youngsville.

The Berea congregation will join with Saron members at the Youngsville church for the 9:15 a. m. worship period on Sunday, he states.

The Chanders Valley church will have its annual Sunday school program at eight o'clock Sunday evening and the Berea Sunday school will have its annual presentation at 8 p. m. Tuesday, December 28.

Another announcement is that the Saron Bible Class will have its Christmas meeting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fornell Johnson at 8 p. m. Thursday, December 30.

Social Events

GROUP DECIDES TO ORGANIZE CLUB

Mrs. Araminta Wingard, east Main street, Youngsville, entertained twelve guests at her home for a tureen dinner and Christmas party. Table decorations were done in gay Christmas colors. Guests were the Misses Mary Spear, Ethel Carlson, Laura Grady, Helen Caldwell, Margaret Sandberg, Mrs. Georgia Wright, Mrs. Florence Hyde, Miss Mabel Boland, Mrs. June Barnes, Mrs. Florence Mourer, Mrs. Mabel Corbin and Mrs. Luella Grady.

Following the dinner, games were enjoyed and gifts received by the entire group. The ladies decided to organize a birthday club and drew names for "secret pals" for the year. Because of the number in the club, they selected the name "Lucky 13."

BROWNIE GROUP HAS PLEASANT PARTY

Brownie Troop 5 of the Home Street School enjoyed a delightful Christmas party at the school building, with a pretty refreshments table done in Christmasy colors and candles. The girls joined in presenting a program of carols and presented their mothers with gifts which they had previously made.

Hostesses of the affair, which was attended by 52 persons, were Mrs. Norman Arnold, co-leader; Mrs. Victor Spattfor, leader; ably assisted by the troop committee members; Mrs. Norman Kehrl, Mrs. H. McCarty, Mrs. E. Grosch and Mrs. W. Lawson.

FARMINGTON UNIT

The Farmington PTA held its regular meeting at the Lander school with 85 persons present. Mrs. Fred and Marsh, vice president, presided over the meeting, which opened with singing of "O Come All Ye Faithful," led by Mr. Russell. Nancy Moore led the devotions.

The treasurer reported a balance of $76.24 and Mrs. Northrop reported 1678 lunches served in the cafeteria in November. Mrs. Norman Johnson, chairman of the committee, reported a new light is needed over the sink in the cafeteria room and it was voted to have the equipment installed. It was also voted to pay for compensation insurance on workers in the cafeteria, since school board does not wish to handle the cafeteria monies. A bill of $10 for speakers was also ordered paid and it was announced the penny collection of $2.59 went to the fifth grade room.

The program for the evening opened with a violin solo by June Norbeck, accompanied by Hazel Miller. Mrs. Mead Anderson, of Willard street school in Jamestown, gave an interesting talk on "Building Family Life". To conclude, lunch was served by Mrs. Travers Stohberg, Mrs. Eurt Schoonover, Mrs. Stuart and Mrs. Nobbs.

Noted Speaker To Be Heard On St. John's Day Program

Members of the Masonic fraternity planning to attend the annual St. John's day observance in the temple in Hickory street Wednesday evening, December 29, at eight o'clock, will be privileged to hear a speaker, in Harry Coopland, who has appeared before such groups as Advertising Clubs, American Legion Posts, Bankers' Associations, Chambers of Commerce, churches, colleges, conventions, service clubs, schools, women's clubs, etc. His talks on such subjects as "Selling Your Community" and "Know Your City" are bell-ringers in audience response.

Beginning at eight o'clock, the program will include a brief welcome, vocal music, presentation of jewels to retiring past masters of the two lodges in Warren, North Star No. 241, and Joseph Warren Lodge No. 726, the address by Mr. Coopland, and a luncheon followed by a social session.

It was Macaulay who first said that the primary object of oratory is not truth, but persuasion. And, for years, Harry Coopland has kept that thought in back of his mind as he went about his day-to-day business of persuading people.

His record at persuading people speaks for itself. Since 1938, Mr. Coopland has addressed over 300 audiences with a total attendance well in excess of 175,000 people. He is widely recognized as an outstanding spokesman, humorous philosopher, and after-dinner speaker.

Born in Liverpool, England, Mr. Coopland served as chief steward on the White Star Line for ten years during which he sailed all over the world.

Not content with a dry resume of the facts on any subjects he presents, Mr. Coopland weaves into his talks a wealth of yarns, anecdotes, parables, stories and the like that frequently keeps his audience crying for more.

A rejuvenator of enthusiasm, his talk on "Masons as Manufacturers" entertained and provided much thought-provoking material.

Merry Christmas!

"Peace on Earth, Good-Will to Men"

Some say that ever 'gainst that season comes
Wherein our Saviour's birth is celebrated,
The bird of dawning singeth all night long;
And then, they say, no spirit can walk abroad:
The nights are wholesome; then no planets strike,
No fairy takes, nor witch hath power to charm,
So hallow'd and so gracious is the time.

—Hamlet, Act I, Scene I

Since 1908, the ancient Royal Copenhagen pottery has created a special plate each year to commemorate Christmas. After a "limited edition" is run off the moulds are destroyed. The creation above is a reproduction of the Christmas (Julien) plate for 1910. From the Retlau Sekrap collection.

Season of Visions

Robert Keith Leavitt, writing in the Christmas Sunday issue of This Week, has expressed in the following words our exact sentiments concerning the holiday season in which we will all have some share: "They call it The Holidays—this last, brief, glowing season of the year—the nine days that begin with Christmas Eve and end with New Year's Day. And so they are—holidays both in the ancient sense of days made holy in remembrance of the world's Greatest Gift and in the modern sense of a time of release from care, a time for the enjoyment of laughter and generosity and good will toward men. But The Holidays have another and more special quality. They are the Season of Visions. They begin with the miracle of seeing backward into the past and then end with the uplift of looking forward to the future.

Until now, we have lived our year in the present, rarely thinking back beyond yesterday, rarely farther ahead than tomorrow. But as each Christmas approaches, we find ourselves remembering times past. Suddenly, as by a special blessing, we can see those other days in crystal clarity: there are so many things to remind us. We see again—how clearly!—the faces that are gone, and hear once more the sound of voices long since stilled.

It is almost as though the old days were back, and the old scenes and the old hopes and presences that made the world that we used to know what it was. . . . Then, as these enchanted days glide by, the miracle of vision begins to swing—from past to future. Like a beam of light it flashes past the year that is going, the days that are running out, with their trials and satisfactions, their frustrations and triumphs. Soon these will be gone; they will be only a score that has been erased, an account that has gone to the files. . . . And all at once we find ourselves looking upon the future and seeing it very clear. Now it is not merely reason that tells us there is a future. It is vision that suddenly reveals it to us, bright and vivid with opportunity and challenge.

There is no one of us, however battered by the old year, who cannot look forward to the new one with hope, picturing what it may bring—or more (for we are, thank God, free men), planning how we may make this, the coming year, all that it should be.

Let us take joy in these days as they pass, and count among our greatest blessings the miracles which exist for each of us in this Season of Visions.

Church Notes

RELIGIOUS DRAMA AT FIRST METHODIST
"Discovering Jesus by Giving" will be the pastor's sermon theme at the 11:00 o'clock service of Sunday morning worship. Both choirs, under the direction of Carroll A. Fowler, will be in the procession. The youth choir will sing the carols: "Love Came Down at Christmas" (Mueller) and "See the Infant Softly Sleeping" (Gretchenoff) and the senior choir will sing two Bach chorals from "The Christmas Oratorio"; (1) Break forth, O beauteous heavenly light and (2) These, with tender care. The two choirs will unite in singing "The Babe in Bethlehem" as arranged by Scholin. Miss Evelyn Wolstencroft will play the following organ numbers: "Shepherds in the Fields" (Malling), "Hallelujah Chorus" (Handel) and "Gloria Bambino" (Yon). At 3:00 o'clock the Sacrament of Baptism will be administered to infants.

At 3:30 o'clock members of the church school, assisted by the youth choir, will present the drama "Holy Night" written by Mary M. Russell. Those in the cast are: Jane Hill, Helen McCune, Charles Niederlander, Jon Klesbauer, Harold Crecraft, Richard Christensen, Bruce Porsgren, Donald Wood, Ralph Hoffman, Clyde Smith, Marcia Stevens, and Margaret Eaton. The committee in charge of this program includes Estelle Rosewell, Mrs. W. H. Wright, Carroll Fowler, Mrs. G. E. Frank, Willard, Royce Black, Florence Lund, Margaret Pittman, and Mrs. Paul Gary. The various classes of the church school will present their Gifts Offering at this program.

At 5:00 o'clock PAK will give a musicale and tea in Dunham parlors, with the college students as honored guests. Parents and interested friends are cordially invited to the PAK presentation. All these services are open to the public. Church school will convene at 10 a. m.

COVENANT SCHOOL'S CHRISTMAS PROGRAM
The Sunday school will present its annual Christmas program at the 7:30 p. m. Sunday service at the Bethlehem Covenant church. The program will be under the direction of the Sunday school superintendent, Walter Swanson. At the 11 a. m. worship service, Rev. David Carlson's sermon subject will be "What Did You Get for Christmas?" This church will have charge of the Warren County Vesper Hour over Station WNAE at 3:30 p. m. Sunday.

Rev. A. J. Kimmel, pastor of First Evangelical United Brethren church, makes the following announcements of Sunday services: Church school at 10 a. m.; morning worship at 11, when he will speak on "Power To Save and Transform the World of Today"; Christmas program at 7 p. m. Prayer meeting will be held at 7:30 p. m. Wednesday, with a meeting of the Sunday school council to follow. Holy Communion will be observed on Sunday, January 2.

The meeting will start at 10 p. m., with a brief business session, program and refreshments. At 11:30, all will meet in the sanctuary for brief devotions, singing of hymns and a meditation by the pastor. On the first Sunday in January, the schedule of service will be changed for the following four months, with morning worship at 9:30 and Sunday school at 10:30. Morning—Christ-

Noel! Noel!

French Carol. The quartet will sing "Lo, How a Rose Ever Blooming" by Fractonus. This service will be broadcast over WNAE at eleven o'clock. Church school will convene at 9:45 with classes for all age groups. At 5:00 the PAK Holiday Musicales tea will be held at the First Methodist church Dunham parlors. This is an annual event and alumni and PAK friends are cordially invited.

"The Afterglow of Christmas" will be the subject of the sermon at the First Baptist church Sunday morning at the 11 o'clock service. The pastor, the Rev. Milton G. Perry, will conduct the service and give the message of the morning. The choir will sing "Twas The Birthday of a King," Neiderlinger.

On Sunday, December 26th, at Salem Evangelical United Brethren church, the minister will use as his sermon subject "Humanity In Search Of God," St. Matthew 2:1-2. The organ meditation played by Miss Ruth Acker is entitled, "The Hallelujah Chorus" by Handel. The choir will sing the anthem "A Christmas Hymn." Miss Melba Olsen is the choir director. The Sacrament of Holy Baptism will be administered. The services begin at 10:45 o'clock. Sunday School meets at 9:45 a. m. The public is invited to attend.

Pageant - Service At Salem Church

A cordial invitation is extended to the public to enjoy the special Christmas service to be held in Salem Evangelical United Brethren church at 7:30 p. m. Christmas Day.

The presentation will be in the form of a pageant, "Follow the Star," in which the following characters will be seen:

Mary and Joseph of today, a young couple honeymooning in the Holy Land, Carolyn Huber and Emil Olsen; Inn-keeper, Carl Jones; Mary, the mother of Jesus, Melba Olsen; Joseph, her affianced husband, William Sedon; The Angel Gabriel, Ernest Kaebnick, Jr.; other angels, Ann Rydholm, Ruth Whitmer, Nancy Styles; three kings from the Orient, Keith Atkins, Paul Ristau and Emil Ristau; three shepherds, Rachel Kaebnick, Phyllis Ristau and Ruth Sedon.

at 10:45 o'clock. Sunday School meets at 9:45 a. m. The public is invited to attend.

AT GRACE CHURCH
"Christmas in Retrospect" is the theme selected by Pastor Harold Knappenberg for the Sunday morning sermon at Grace church. The choir, under the direction of Mrs. Edwin Jack, will sing "Christmas Eve" by Howarth with Mrs. C. G. Lundquist in the solo part. Earl Ericson will sing "O Holy Night" by Adams as the offertory solo. Mrs. Kenneth Nielsen will play appropriate Christmas music for her organ numbers. There will be baptism of infants and children at this service. The Youth Fellowship at 6:30 will be in charge of Eugenia Price, who has planned a Christmas program. At the 7:30 evening service, the Christmas Carol Song Fest will be led by Harold Samuelson, Wayne Klenck accompanied by Gerald Klenck will play several Christmas numbers on the clarinet, and the pastor will bring a brief meditation on "The Vision Splendid." All are cordially invited to worship at Grace church.

CHRISTMAS PROGRAM OF NAZARENE SCHOOL
The Christmas program presented by the children and young people of the Nazarene Sunday school will be given Sunday evening at 7:30 in the main auditorium of the Church of the Nazarene. The theme of the program, which is under the direction of Miss Joyce McFarland, is "He Is Coming." Featured in this presentation is the Girls' Junior Choir, under the leadership of Mrs. Ruby Rieder. The public is invited to attend this service.

Little War Going On Over Handling Of the Spy Case

By JAMES MARLOW
Washington, Dec. 23—(AP)—There's a little war going on over the way the spy case has been handled.

Two government agencies have worked on the case: The Department of Justice and the House Un-American Activities committee.

The war is between Rep. Nixon, California Republican member of the committee, and Zechariah Chafee, Jr., Harvard law professor.

In a very long letter to the Washington Post Chafee is critical of the way the committee handled the case.

And in a very long letter to the same newspaper Nixon is not only critical for being critical but is critical of the Justice Department's handling of the case, too.

At this moment the whole case revolves around certain state department papers which Whittaker Chambers says Alger Hiss, who once worked in that department, took for a Soviet spy ring.

In connection with those papers Hiss yesterday was indicted on two charges of perjury by a New York federal grand jury investigating the case.

Neither the justice department nor the committee was able to pry any of those papers out of Chambers.

A private lawyer, Hiss' lawyer, got some of them out of him when he asked Chambers if he had any evidence to back his charges that Hiss had been a Communist. (Hiss is suing Chambers for $75,000 for making that charge).

In his criticism of the committee, Chafee asks: "Does the committee deserve much credit for the abstracted government documents?"

"If it had not been for (Hiss' lawyer) the committee apparently would have discovered nothing."

Chafee says the committee members are a "stupid bunch of investigators" if they didn't find out about the documents before or, if they did, they were "delinquent" in letting Chambers keep them secret so long.

Nixon replies that "the committee did not know about the documents. However, there are nine members of the committee and it has five investigators."

Dark Days Of War Recalled In Bastogne

Bastogne, Belgium—(AP)—Bastogne's entire population, especially the children, took a holiday on this well remembered date, fourth anniversary of Brig. Gen. Anthony C. McAuliffe's defiant "nuts" to a German surrender demand.

An American army major came to the monument of a Sherman tank and handed out to 1,500 Bastogne youngsters nuts gathered in the United States to commemorate the darker Dec. 22 of 1944.

There was also a message from Maj. Gen. McAuliffe:

"Men of the 101st Airborne Division and myself join in sending the city of Bastogne a supply of American nuts in memory of December 22, 1944. May the citizens of Bastogne enjoy a happy Christmas Eve."

Maj. Charles L. Huffteab of Falls City, Neb., handed the 660 pounds of nuts for the children. "This is establishing a new link between you and your friends of the United States," he said and then expressed hope that next year Gen. McAuliffe himself might be able to come for a similar ceremony.

Later, in the town hall's main room bedecked with American flags and a picture of McAuliffe, glasses of champagne were lifted to the toast "vive L'Amerique."

Burgomaster Pierre Renquin welcomed Maj. Huffteab and his wife.

The people of Bastogne, their city now well ahead with reconstruction, recalled the Dec. 22 four years ago when the 101st was encircled. It was an exceptionally sunny day and the air force was able to parachute supplies to the troops. One citizen told how the cases of ammunition were loaded on Jeeps, even before the parachutes were out off, and sped to the guns defending the city.

Today, many shop windows are decorated with small parachutes on which small Christmas presents are hanging.

The nuts distributed by Maj. Huffteab were donated by the American Nut-Growers Association.

Five million eight hundred thousand automobiles entered Canada from the United States in 1947.

Seasonal Cheer On Radio This Evening

New York, Dec. 24—(AP)—If you can't find enough Merry Christmas all around you tonight and tomorrow, the radio, as well as television, will be ready with plenty more. As a matter of fact, television this year is playing its biggest part yet.

Seasonal cheer will be available in many forms from drama to carol singing. Included are midnight services and other events tonight:

King George's annual message to the British Empire, two-hour shows and even football on Christmas itself.

On the regular schedule tonight (Christmas Eve): NBC—8 Paul Lavalle Christmas Eve band; 8:30 Jimmy Durante; 9:30 Red Skelton; 10 Life of Riley.

CBS—5 Jack Carson Show; 8:30 Mr. and Jane Ace; 9 Geraldine Fitzgerald in "Pilgrim's Inn;" 10:30 Spike Jones revue.

ABC—8 The Fat Man; 8:30 This is FBI; 9 Break the Bank; 10 Sports Show.

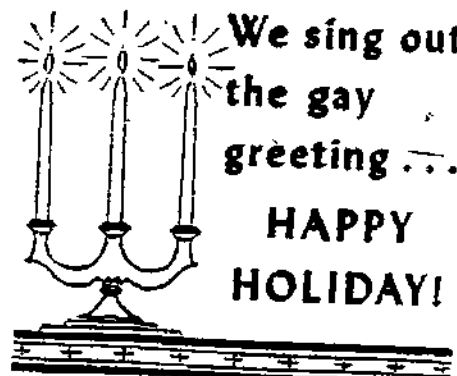

MBS—8 great scenes concert, Bishop Sherill; 9:30 Yours For a Song.

INDIANS IN AIRPLANES

An Indian path became the first scheduled airplane route in America. An early railroad between New York and Philadelphia followed the path, and the airplane route, built in 1910, followed the railroad.

"Merry Christmas To All"

At this joyous season of the year we take time out to wish a heartfelt "Merry Christmas" to all of our good friends and customers.

We believe these friends will forgive us for reminding them that our progress and growth these past eighteen years has been made possible by doing good work for satisfied customers.

At times like this we also like to remind ourselves that our business as specialists depends for its growth and prosperity on our doing an ever better job at the least possible cost.

When your car or truck needs body and fender repairs, refinishing, frame and axle alignment, wheel straightening, glass or door lock repairs, we can do the job right. But, don't wait until then to look us over. We've grown but we are not to big to be friendly. Drive in anytime, whether you need work done or not. You're always welcome to a free check up on the things we do and you can be sure we won't find something wrong that isn't really there. Again, "Merry Christmas and thanks for helping us grow."

Capital Will Witness Many Changes Soon

By ARTHUR EDSON
Washington—(AP)—There'll be a lot of changes in this town when the new congress takes over in a couple of weeks.

You've heard of the big changes... Democratic speaker of the house, Democratic chairmen of committees... that sort of thing.

But there will be other changes that will be a few shakes less than world-shaking.

For instance, the special committee on reconstruction of senate roof and skylights and remodeling of senate chamber will be looking for a new chairman. Present head: Senator Revercomb (R-W Va.).

Please don't confuse this with the special committee on reconstruction of house roof and skylights and remodeling of house chamber. This is another outfit altogether, but it, too, will be hunting for a chairman to replace Rep. McGregor (R-Ohio).

The same goes for my favorite committee, now headed by Rep. Clarence Brown (R-Ohio). Its title: Select committee to conduct a study and investigation of all matters related to the need for adequate supplies of newsprint, printing and wrapping paper, paper products, paper pulp, and pulpwood.

One obvious way to save newsprint, of course, is to shorten that name.

But congress may take the easy way out. Since these are special committees, they have to be renewed with each congress. And the 81st congress could solve the chairmanship problems by letting the committees die a quiet death.

Don't get the idea, though, that we're going completely hogwild in Washington. There'll be steady influences.

The oldest senator in point of continuous service is Senator McKellar (D-Tenn.). He came to the senate on March 4, 1917, and his present term has four years to run.

But he stacks up as a comparative juvenile alongside the house's most constant member.

Rep. Sabath (D-Ill) first came to congress on March 4, 1907, and even though he has had to face re-election every two years, he has kept coming back.

This adds up to 22 consecutive terms, and what looks like a habit.

A Merry Christmas

 PENNSYLVANIA GAS COMPANY

Here's wishing all our customers a Merry Christmas in the good old fashioned way—may peace and happiness be with you through the coming year.

The Warren Water Co.

LONG centuries ago they left
Their homeland in the wild,
And followed that resplendent Star
To hail a new-born Child.
They left their ancient, hallowed lore
To learn a Heavenly way
That should bring faith for all their doubts,
For their soul-darkness, day.

And there, in that rude manger bed
They found Him, Lord of Love;
They fell in rapture at His feet
As stars shone bright above.
The wisdom that they long had known
Seemed dross as they now learned
The lore of God, the Heavenly love
Which their proud hearts had spurned.

Oh, that we, too, with knowledge vast,
Might seek again the light
That came to earth, as Heaven spoke
To men, on that dear night.
Oh, that we might discard all hate,
War's futile stratagem,
And take our way to Him who came
One night—in Bethlehem!

To you whose Good Will toward us—whose confidence in us—has contributed to the year's success, we extend our good wishes and thanks. May this Christmas be the most joyful and the New Year your happiest and most prosperous.

Four Injured In Accident Near Russell

Four young persons were injured, one of them seriously, and an automobile badly damaged about midnight, Pennsylvania State Police reported, when the car missed turn on the Russell-Scandia road and crashed into a tree stump. The accident occurred a mile from Russell, while the car was proceeding in the direction of that community.

Reported in critical condition in Warren General Hospital today was Joann Finley, 18, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Finley of 06 East street. She is believed to have suffered a fracture of the skull and is reported in an unconscious condition.

Three others, all 18 years of age, also were taken to the hospital. They were Carl Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold of Marsh avenue, Youngsville; Catherine Gruttaria, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gruttaria, 519 Prospect street, Warren; and Joyce Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest R. Wilson of 108 1/2 Cayuga avenue, Warren. All were reported in good condition.

Police said the automobile was owned by Earl Arnold of Youngsville, father of the injured boy. Two other boys whose names were not immediately learned, were not injured.

Unless otherwise stated, visiting hours at Warren's funeral homes are from 10 a. m. to 12: 30 p. m. and 7 to 9 p. m.

TERRY MARSDEN MORRIS

The entire community of Youngsville was saddened yesterday by the sudden death of Terry Marsden Morris, two-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Morris, West Main street, who passed away shortly before noon. He was born in Warren on December 23, 1946.

Besides his parents, he is survived by four grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Rhoades, of Youngsville, and Mr. and Mrs. Victor Lotgren, of Grand Valley.

Friends may call at the family home after noon today and services in his memory will be held from there on Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock with Rev. Harold Lindquist, pastor of Youngsville EUB church, officiating. Interment will take place in Youngsville cemetery.

Reds Hold China North of Yangtze

ly is designed to keep troops busy and out of mischief rather than to prepare to meet the Red troops of Lin Piao.

There are repeated instances of National Gen. Fu Tso-Yi's units withdrawing into the large cities without even a contact with the Reds. In one instance a local commander, well installed for defense in an area outside of Peking, received the surprising order: "You are being attacked by Communists. Withdraw immediately."

Puzzled, he complied. Three days later there still was no sign of Reds in the area he formerly held.

On the Communist side, too, there appears reluctance to force the fighting in the north. Lin Piao and other high commanders evidently prefer to await desertions from the Peiping and Tientsin garrisons rather than to fight into the cities. Peiping is filled with historical treasures and the other commercial and industrial prizes.

RELIEF REPORT

Ramsey S. Black, state treasurer, reported that direct relief payments made to needy residents of Warren county during the week ending December 23—remain the same as those of the previous week. Payments for the week totaled $94.00 which was $8.00 higher than those of the comparable week of last year. Payments by the Bureau of Assistance Disbursements in the State Treasury Department follow: Current week $94.00; previous week $94.00.

Employees At Betts Foundry Remembered

Betts Machine Company has this year added to their regular profit sharing bonus, the gift of turkeys to all employees.

The bonus plant, put into effect four years ago, makes it possible for every employee to share in the profits of the company. The amount of bonus a man receives takes into consideration length of service, ability to do his job well, regularity in attendance, productivity and willingness to work together to get the work out. Each of the thirty-eight employees are rated by the foreman and two officers which places the value of the individual to the company and his share of the total bonus is effected by the rating he receives. Bonus is paid twice a year to all who have worked the full six month period. The last six months period earned, for the lower group, an additional fourteen cents per hour.

In addition to the bonus plan Betts Machine Company offers employees group life and accident insurance, vacation with pay and paid holidays.

All in all it would be rather hard to find a happier, harder hitting small organization who are all bent on getting their job done well, and in a hurry.

Kiddies Jam Theater For Annual Party

A wiggling, squirming mass of kids jammed the Library theatre and threatened to bulge it at the seams this morning as the annual Christmas party sponsored by the Warner Brothers Theatres, Warren Lodge of Elks, Warren Lodge of Moose and the Times-Mirror, got under way.

As early as ten o'clock, one-half hour before show time, the house was crowded with more kids coming from as far as the eye could see. Thirty-eight children from the Hoffman Home occupied the loges. They were transported to the theatre by Warren City Buses.

Following the movies, and the stage presentation by the Rapp Dance Studios, the children filed out through the lobby as they were dismissed row by row with off-duty city firemen assisting in passing out oranges and candy to each one.

Santa Claus on the stage and "Dumbo", the clown, provided much amusement to the throng.

of 23 lighted Christmas trees down its center. Santa Claus appeared last night aboard a 40-foot crane, which lowered him into a lighted area where he stepped out and distributed candy to youngsters.

In New York, a lady social worker yesterday donned full Santa Claus regalia—including beard—to dispense Christmas cheer to 80 pre-school children and 40 mothers at a municipal shelter party.

At Indianapolis, Ind., a Christmas eve tradition will be repeated: Schools and choral groups will gather in elaborately decorated monument circle for caroling. From a mountain-top outside Hot Springs, Ark., will flash a series of tableau symbolizing the Christmas story. Some 100 choristers will help celebrate the 18th annual Christmas eve observance. All over the country, the Salvation Army and other groups gave parties for the sick, poor and disabled.

A Christmas party in Philadelphia ended on a tonsorial note: An official of the affair noticed that the kids needed haircuts. He called a barber, who collected a bushel basket of shorn locks.

Teams Ready Annual Blue-Gray Contest

Montgomery, Ala., Dec. 24.—(AP)—All-star teams from north and south of the Mason-Dixon line wind up preparations today for tomorrow's 11th annual game of the Blue-Gray football series.

Coaches have been polishing up their offenses most of the week. From the looks of it, the two teams will be shooting for touchdowns nearly every play.

Right now most experts are rating the game a tossup, depending on which eleven gets its offense clicking first and keeps it going the longer.

The Yankees probably have an edge with the average 207-pound man line. On the other hand, the Rebels have more depth and possibly more talent in the backfield.

Sportswriters are predicting a free-scoring contest with both teams passing freely. The two squads worked on pass plays again yesterday.

Brown's Ed Finn continued to thread the needle with his passes. A teammate, Phil Colletta of St. Bonaventure, was hitting his receivers often enough to show he'll be a threat when Finn goes out of the game.

Bullet Bobby Thomason of V. M. I. shapes up as the south's top passer. He threw 14 strikes during the 1948 season, each going for a touchdown and his performance this week has been up to par.

Villanova, Dec. 24.—(AP)—Villanova College's football squad winds up its preliminary drills today for the Harbor Bowl game with a short workout.

The team then gets a short Christmas recess before entertaining Sunday for San Diego, Calif., site of the New Year's Day game with Nevada.

Villanova will be at top form for the test against Stan Heath and Company. Guard George Pavalko, who broke his hand in the Kentucky game and missed the last three Wildcat contests, is back on duty.

Coach Jordan Oliver has been naming Bill Doherty, all-Pennsylvania quarterback for a pass-duel with Heath. Doherty, rated the best all-around back in the Philadelphia area this year, is expected to give Heath stiff competition for passing honors in the Bowl game.

A. B. C. Has 5,342 Teams In Tourney

Atlantic City, N. J., Dec. 24.—(AP)—The American Bowling Congress announced yesterday 5,342 teams will seek prize money close to $300,000 in its 46th annual tournament scheduled to begin in Convention Hall Feb. 12.

The ABC wanted 6,864 teams for a 60-day meet and had visions of a $500,000 prize melon. The lower entry list cut three days from the tournament and brought about a reduced number of allays—from 52 to 48, an ABC official said.

Tournament Director Charlie Treuter, of Milwaukee, said 3,508 regular teams will compete. The rest are booster teams.

In other league scraps, Penelec trimmed Rudolph Barbers, 3-1; Coe's Paints blanked Times Square and Olson Bjers racked up a clean sweep against Sherwood Refiners.

Joining Masterson in the high scoring ozone were Ed Schumacher with 178-25-195-600 for Olson-Bjers; McClement with 215-179-198-593 for Penelec; and Harry Wooster with 202-185-186-571 for Coe's.

Orange Bowl Game At Miami Saturday

Miami, Fla., Dec. 24.—(AP)—Between 35,000 and 40,000 football fans are expected to attend the Shrine's north-south all-star charity game tomorrow night in the Orange Bowl.

Both teams planned light drills for today.

Herman Hickman of Yale, coach of the north's 25-man squad, warned his team:

"I want you boys to look sharp out there Christmas night. If we win we'll dine on steaks and beer. If we lose we'll eat bread and water."

"We're ready and in great shape," said Andy Gustafson, University of Miami, coach of the south team.

Yesterday both teams ran through plays and worked on pass offense and defense. Both Hickman and Gustafson have promised a wide-open, free scoring game with plenty of passing.

Gustafson will utilize George Blanks of Kentucky for most of the passing assignments while Hickman is relying on Notre Dame's great Terry Brennan.

Charlie Bodnarik has been elected captain of the north team and Barney Poole, Mississippi's star end, will captain the southern squad.

Chapter 28

PAT came running in answer to the call. He blinked at sight of the vast patient sitting up. She grinned at him.

"Pile pillows behind me, Pat. I'm sitting up. I'm too weak in the legs to stand, but there's nothing wrong with my sitting apparatus."

Mrs. Monahan, safely braced with pillows, beamed at having won her first step.

Lottie groaned. "You shouldn't be sitting up. The doctor said so."

"Since when do doctors know anything? He just wants to keep me sick so he can wheedle more money out of me. And that he does. Pat, take this worried look off your face. And put on a clean shirt. They're comin' to take me out of here, what for I don't know except that I do know I won't have me picture made lying on me back like a sick cow. Now don't start saying so because it has to be for Rosalie. Lottie, do you happen to know what good our mugs can possibly do Rosalie?"

"Rosalie is going to Hollywood."

The fat woman blinked. "And what will she do way out there?"

Lottie gasped at such abysmal ignorance. "Make pictures, of course. She's going to be in pictures. We'll be able to see her in pictures."

Pat made a contemptuous gesture. "I don't believe it. She wouldn't stoop to nothin' like that. Not our Rosalie."

"Stoop?" Lottie felt strangled. "Everybody would give a right arm to be in just one picture for one minute. It-it's fame."

"I wouldn't give nothing," cried Pat.

"Nor I," piped up Tuffy, anxious to get close to Pat.

Pat caught him up again and rode him down the hall out of the sphere of such feminine possession. Joe came in quietly. He looked very tall and straight in his uniform. Lottie was startled at the sight of him, then caught his hand easily.

"Did you hear, Joe? Rosalie is going to Hollywood. She's going to be in pictures."

His mother clapped her fat hands. "We won't give her up. We'll keep her here with us. We won't let her go to Hollywood. She'll be lonesome out there. She won't know anybody."

"I'd give half my life to be a star in Hollywood for one day," said Lottie.

She turned away lest she say more. It was all so ridiculous. She started to look out the window and heave a sigh but there was no chance. A taxi had just stopped in front of the door and Rosalie was being handed out by a tall, handsome man. Another car rolled up and several men with cameras poured out of it. Lottie stood fascinated but shouted over her shoulder:

"Rosalie's here. And the camera men."

Joe came and stood by her side watching. A crowd was collecting. Rosalie posed, smiling, clinging to Wayne's arm. Then suddenly the house was full of them. Rosalie came up to Joe and kissed him lightly. A bulb flashed. Rosalie's laugh ripped out.

"Isn't it awful of us to descend on you like this with cameras?" Joe smiled faintly. "They don't want any pictures of me now."

"Sure we do," cried a camera man. "Pick her up in your arms and carry her like you did that night the rowdies egged her."

ROSALIE held out her arms. "You must do it, Joe. I must have publicity. It seems Don't say anything yet, Wayne. I'll have three days on the train to explain."

Joe swept her up in his arms and stood facing the clicking cameras. It was a handsome shot, the kind the men knew their papers liked. They liked this Rosalie and this handsome young Smokey Joe who was making a name for himself.

In the bedroom Mrs. Monahan sat with glowing face and was snapped alone, with Joe, with Pat, with Rosalie. She was so excited she could hardly talk. Fame had pushed into her house.

Everyone began to crowd out of the flat, the newspapermen in the best of humor. Rosalie was finally able to lead Wayne up to Pat and Mrs. Monahan. She introduced him gaily.

"Remember the grand party you gave me when I was going out to marry Wayne. Well, here he is."

The fat woman gave her hand with dignity. "You love her, don't you?"

"I do."

"Will you promise you'll do your best not to let her marry that rascal who had a naked woman in his room?"

Lottie gasped. "Mother! Such language!"

"Mr. Kahler knows what I mean."

"Indeed I do, Mrs. Monahan. I'm going to try my best to marry her myself. Will that be better?"

"I think it would. But you'll forgive me for hopin' still that it's my Joe she should marry and be happy with."

Joe seemed to appear from nowhere. He was grave, quiet. "Please don't say any more. None of us have any right to point any fingers at Mr. Hall. He gave Rosalie her chance. He made her a success. He's sending her to Hollywood with Wayne now because she trusts her. He deserves something. He turned and took her and, 'Good-bye, Rosalie. I wish you grand success both in pictures and as the wife of the man who turned you into a star.'"

Her voice was very quiet. "I'm not a star yet. Suppose I fail?"

"You won't fail. You'll climb as high as you want to climb."

He turned and vanished as silently as he had appeared. Wayne drew a deep breath. "Ready to go, Rosalie? Trains don't wait."

She patted his cheek. "Wait! The taxi. I'll be out in a minute."

Higher Income In 1949 Is Aim Of Farmers

New York—(AP)—The farmer is going to make a strenuous effort to keep his income high next year. He is tackling the problem at both ends.

He plans to keep production of foodstuffs as near record high levels as the weather will permit. And he is planning a strenuous fight in congress to give the farmer more favorable parity price support terms than the 80th congress voted.

An indication of the first—the plan to produce record crops even at the threat of creating surpluses for the government to deal with—is shown in the winter wheat belt.

The government had urged that farmers plant 8 to 12 percent less acres to winter wheat this year than last, in view of the chances of a wheat surplus next year. Instead, the department of agriculture reports, farmers have planted 5 percent more acres this fall than last—and more than ever before. Weather conditions in the southwest, however, may hold production slightly under last year's, although above the 10-year average.

Weather is the risk the farmer has to take. And before the farmer is condemned for "over-production," it should be remembered that planting record acreage and "harvesting record crops" are two different things, and months apart.

But the farmer's position—and a perfectly natural and understandable one—is summed up by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan in a statement to the American farm bureau federation:

"If there is going to be any downward adjustment of the national economy, we are not going to start this time with the farmer."

In simple words, the government isn't going to let the farmer go broke first this time.

The government is now committed to guaranteeing the producer of most farm crops 90 percent of parity—parity being the price, arrived at by a complicated formula, designed to keep the farmer on equality with others in the economic race.

The last congress extended this 90 per cent of parity formula for a time and then proposed a sliding scale, down to 60 per cent of parity, for supporting farm prices, starting a year from now.

As a result of the election, the administration is expected to try to raise the support floor to around 75 per cent of parity. Much higher support floors than that will be asked by a number of farm belt and cotton belt members of congress. Some will want the 90 per cent figure made permanent. It should be a grand fight.

The consumer who doesn't live on a farm and the taxpayer who lives anywhere will have a stake in the battle.

Larval fishes drifting on the outer edge of the Gulf Stream have been carried north every year for tens of thousands of years.
